Bro. Taylor Occupies Pulpit

Elder P. N. Taylor, of the Baptist church, through the courtesy of members of the Christian church in this city Sunday morning and at night occupied the pulpit there, preaching two splendid sermons which were well received. Quite a number were anxious to give the minister entertainment and the voluntary donations exceeded those of any former visits from ministers of the Baptist church. The number present at each of the two services were above the average. The subject handled in the morning was "The Seven Beatitudes." His subject in the evening was "The Diversity of Communications between Heaven and earth in the various Eras of the Bible."

New Generator Arrives

The new generator has arrived at the city light plant and been installed. This, together with the new 20 horse power engine, when added to the equipment already on hand, makes the Clay City light plant all that the town will need for years to come unless it should take a growing period above the ordinary. You can now turn on all the current you choose and put on additional lights where needed. In this plant is now installed three engines and three generators, either one of which can, when in good working order, handle the load.

Lookout for Fugate

Deputy Sheriff, Jas. G. Fugate, is to be commended for his promptness in helping to keep order in our town Saturday when one young man contrived to disturb the peace of the quiet. Mr. Fugate displayed the highest respect for his prisoner who remained hoistrous after arrest but Mr. Fugate in a kindly manner continued until the young man was safely lodged in jail. Better be quiet, boys or our Jim will get you, however much he likes you and regrets that you make him have to do so. He prefers to see all men free, but inside the bars is the best place for those who want to violate the law outside.

Buys Property in Middletown

Mrs. Lydia Phillips returned home with Everett Moffield and family, of Middletown, Ohio, last week and purchased from him a nice five room house strictly modern on a nice paved street and paid forty-four hundred dollars for it. She left it rented for forty dollars a month until she gets ready to move.

Winter Begins Today

The almanac tells us winter begins today. It also tells us the shortest day of the year is tomorrow. But if we are any judge it really seems that we have been having winter right along since the first of November, making the forecasts of ganderbone a reality.

Unconstitutional

The Court of Appeals has decided that the good roads bill, which revised the law and named officers, is unconstitutional.

Christmas Day

Next Monday is Christmas day—Santa Claus day. Our Savior's birthday. It is a day above all days that should be sacredly observed. But will it be? The day is too often celebrated by reveling, feasting and drinking. The reverse thing should be the order of the day. The day should be piously, soberly and reverently spent with thanks to our creator for the birth of a Savior. Let us strive for one day to emulate the acts of the one who died on the cross for our sins, many of which are annually committed on His birthday. All will not fittingly observe the day, but you, dear reader, and the writer can if we will.

Clark Votes the Tax

Clark County last Thursday voted by 4 to 1 to levy an extra 20 cent tax for two years to aid the building of a first class pike from Winchester to Lulaburg under the Federal and State aid plan. It is intended to ultimately make this a concrete or asphalt road. It looked to us like this should be done in the beginning. However, as this is the road coming to Powell county, and as the State is to maintain it, and as they do such good work at maintenance. The Powell people are proud to know that Clark folk are so anxious to help the road our way.

We Want One Thousand

We print $85 papers each week to supply our subscribers. We want 1000 and at New Year's is a good time to get them. It takes but 115 new subscribers to reach the goal. It is not necessary to run a contest to get the number of subscribers The Times should have. If each reader will speak to a friend he knows should be on our list, but now is not, and ask him to send in his subscription at the beginning of the New Year, enough will do this to make the list reach 1,000. Do this, Dear Reader, will you not, please?

State Collects Large Tax Bill

The State received this week $1,216,618 as part settlement of an inheritance tax due on the estate of Mrs. Lily Flagler Birmingham. This is in accordance with a decision of the courts, and the estate will make no further contest of the case.

More Road for Powell

It is announced that 5.2 miles of road between Stanton and Clay City would be let at Frankfort yesterday. Here's hoping the report is true, and that the road is built.

The Auto Tax

When you buy an auto you are in for a big tax, paying 5% of the total wholesale cost of the machine when you receive it. You then must pay a license tax before you operate it at all. You fill up with gasoline when you pay a tax of one cent for every gallon you buy. The assessor comes along for the county and state and taxes you up again, then the city collector hunts you up to settle with you for town tax. The automobile owners of Kentucky paid $2,136,716.44 in license fees last year and $500,000.00 in gasoline tax. The exact amount of ad valorem tax is not known, but will amount to at least two million more. There were 154,731 machines registered with the various county clerks last year, and there will be more mobiles and more license next year.

Dies at Middletown

Mrs. Jade Yarber, age 37, of Middletown, Ohio, died at her home Thursday night after several weeks suffering with poison goiter. She was taken to a Dayton hospital for treatment, but after all hopes had passed she was taken back to her home in Middletown. Burial near Olympia Springs, Ky., at old home place. She is survived by her husband, one son, Albert, and one daughter, Miss Allie Mae Yarber, both of Middletown. Before marriage she was Miss Olga Hagaman. She was a sister of Mrs. Wm. Bashaw, of this city, who was at her bedside during her last hours. Mr. and Mrs. Bashaw and children attended the funeral at Olympia Monday.

King recently located, that he had injured a hand some days ago while repairing some machinery and was now in the hospital there to have the injured member taken off. Sunday was the first Sunday to begin in the Vaughn's mill—Rosslyn contest between the two schools. Our Sunday School made a good showing, but just how well we did do will not be divulged.

Prof. J. W. French closed his singing school Friday and departed Saturday for Doe Creek to begin another. Under Prof. French's instructions a pupil cannot keep from learning something of music as he is very capable. He maintained good order outside of laughing and of course that always goes with a singing. The fun increased every night, but after awhile the climax came when Mr. H. M. Curtis sang his melody of old the Shoemaker by Trade which capped the fun to limit. Mr. Curtis certainly did entertain well on this old tune of '79 or '80—Salt or taint.

Soldiers Refused

The War Department has refused aid to the prohibition forces in their efforts to capture moonshine stills and operators in our neighboring county of Menefee after two prohibition officers were shot down by the shiners. Not deterred by the loss of two of their number the prohibition officers were re-inforced and returned to Menefee where they killed one of the shiners and captured five. They were taken to the Lexington jail. One of the officers lost his life also in the last raid.

THE TIMES

THURSDAY, DEC. 21, 1922

Entered as second-class mail matter at the Post Office at Clay City, Ky., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATE,
ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR.

The Governor's race is coming in for considerable attention among the Democrats. So far there is no announced candidate except Congressman A. W. Barkley, of Paducah. Our Congressman, James O. Cantrell, is seriously considering making the race, but has not yet decided to do so. There is an apparent organized cry for a business man and it is perpetrated with such regularity and precision that one concludes there must be a "nigger in the woodpile," though The Times does not make this accusation. We fear, however, that it is a certain business man in the minds of the voters rather than just any first class business man.

The Times believes that if Judge Shackelford should enter the race, as has been hinted at, he would be hard to beat in the race, and in the Governor's chair too, if elected. The pardon mill would then cease to grind, and he would be the Governor as he has been the Judge.

There is a tendency to substitute the ship subsidy with a farm subsidy or rather modulate the character of loans by loan associations. Republicans and Democrats alike seem determined to render aid where aid is needed, and where it will be of benefit to 100 per cent of the people instead of 1 per cent of the people. Three cheers for our Congress if they really do pass the farm subsidy and lay on the shelf the ship subsidy.

The Value of Better Roads

"Good roads are vital to all sections of the country," declares John D. McAnallen, local dealer in Durant and Star cars. "The interests of millions of people demand them. Contrary to the common conception, the wealthy tourists and truck-using corporations form only a very small fraction of those who are urging better highway transportation."

"Better roads will benefit two great classes, namely, three and one-half million farmers who are dependent upon these automobiles, and as many more city-dwelling families with incomes of less than $1,000.00, who with the farmers, own two-thirds of all the cars sold."

"Consider what the combination of the automobiles and good roads means to the farmer. It gives him access to the nearby towns, and thereby ends his isolation. It brings the schools nearer his children, and shortens the distance in all his social relations. It connects his farm and his market."

"When prices are right, he can move his produce promptly and thereby not only develop a broader market, but a more stabilized one. He is no longer dependent upon railroad connections and can, therefore, purchase land for its productiveness and low cost alone. It gives him more time to work on his farm."

"The city worker of moderate means enjoys equally decisive advantages. His car and good roads enable him to exchange the city congestion for the health and beauty of the suburbs. A hundred other valuable services are rendered, both for business and social usage."

"Purely as an investment, better roads will pay regular and substantial dividends which every enterprising community cannot afford to lose. Besides, they proclaim the character of the section to visitors. The desirability of the towns are rated by their presence."

"Better highways mean better transportation and better communities."

"Strong and Well"

"I WISH you could know how much I am improved since taking the Cardui," writes Mrs. Nannie Brown, of Black Rock, Ark. "You wouldn't know me for the same weak invalid I was before I took it. At my... I had to keep off my feet or I would fall. I couldn't do my housework, and just got where I'd most as lief be dead as living. Some one told me husband of Cardui. He got it for me and I took three bottles before I stopped—then off and on for the last three years just as a tonic. I saw a decided improvement after my first bottle. I used the three, and was able to do my work with ease, and now I sew for my family and for others. I am feeling fine, and strong and well."

Take Cardui. It may be just the medicine you need.

Where you have gone before.

Powell Man Making Good

The Danville Daily Messenger, commenting on the Messenger service, has the following to say of I. G. Jackson and two sons. Mr. Jackson learned the printing trade in The Times office in 1898:

"Mr. I. G. Jackson is superintendent of the job printing department and under his management for many years the Messenger has built up a large business in this line. In addition to making prices on job printing—which are always right—Mr. Jackson supervises the work. He is one of the best job printers in the State and won many prizes at the last meeting of the Kentucky Press Association for best exhibits of job printing of various kinds. If you bring your job printing to the Daily Messenger, you may be assured of getting prompt service, the lowest price, and, most important of all, first-class work."

"Mr. Jackson's son, Mr. Robert Jackson, is our advertising man. Robert has been working in various departments of the office and shop ever since he was big enough to work—even while he was in school—and although a young man, he thoroughly understands his business. He can do anything to be done in the office, and in addition to going out and getting the ads, he frequently sets them up in type. He is a graduate of the Danville High School and is quite popular with all of the local business men—as they like his line disposition and the manner in which he serves them."

"Grant Jackson, who is in high school, works on the Daily Messenger in the afternoons after school hours. Grant has been working on the paper for some time, and helps make up the mail."

Care at Christmas Time

At Christmas time, many people are so engrossed with the idea of entertainment and amusement for their children, that they are forgetful of the dangers that accompany these entertainments.

Picture the Family Reunion.—Gathered around the annual Christmas tree—Children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, cousins and all—The tree with its many decorations, its lighting effects, its imitation snow, tinsel, the presents for all—and Santa Claus with his white locks and flowing beard—When suddenly a flash, and the fire—Fire appears. Someone has been careless and the accident occurs. Some little fellow hopelessly scorched for life—or maybe the loss of life. The happy scene is changed without warning to one of sorrow, misery and despair. There, is a Christmas, the horror of which is forever burned into the memory and hearts of those who but a short time before were so gay and carefree. A family reunion that will never be forgotten. But always the darkness of death or accident in the ascendant. The family with a home gone, a loved one burned, that scene that began so happily, changed in a moment to one of horror and distress.

Lighted candles, on trees in connection with paper tinsel and celluloid decorations, the same in electric lights or light wires, dried holly or mistletoe on gas light, or electric light fixtures, and their wires, any of these might be the cause of the above picture.

These Christmas time pleasures and programs may be so arranged as to preclude the possibility of any such tragedy occurring in the home. Proper supervision of the children, and a little care in preparing the decorations will accomplish this result.

This Department requests that all people throughout the State of Kentucky bear these facts in mind in preparing their Yuletide festivities. To that end we extend heartiest greetings and good cheer to all throughout the State, praying that not a single calamity of the kind pictured above may be the part of any resident of this great State. To that extent we ask your cooperation.
